General Order No. 1

To the Grand Commandery Knights Templar of Tennessee and the Officers and Sir Knights of the Constituent Commanderies wherever dispersed throughout Tennessee:

I bring you greetings as your new Grand Commander. I wish the circumstances were better suited for my first communication to my brethren, yet they are what providence has arranged.

Over the course of the last year our communities have been afflicted by an uncertain virus with unknown short- and long-term effects. What I am asking you to do is live prudently but without fear. I am asking you to protect and take care of our elderly members, our widows, our weak and young people, and yourselves. This is the true duty of a chivalrous knight and Mason, and much more important than going to a meeting or learning ritual. Tennesseans have always led the way, and I expect no less of you now.

Fear, my friends, is the great enemy of all of us. This is not unnatural, for we always fear what we do not understand. When I first arrived in Haiti as a peacekeeper in 2010, I arrived in the middle of a pandemic of cholera. That virus killed nearly 10,000 people in a short period of time. What I learned was that if I took certain precautions, I would be okay, and I am here to tell the tale. Believe in the peace that is promised to a Christian and have no fear.

To put this in a different context let me offer the words of Christ who said, “Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid” (John 14:27.)

We will pass through this and come through the other side. I promise that all will be well. I will be with you every step of the way and I am always available for you and to you any time of day or night. Your Grand Commandery officers also stand by ready to assist as needed.

More information will follow in subsequent General Orders.

Fraternally,
