Greetings Sir Knights,

The Annual Conclave was held on Saturday, June 12th in Barre. Congratulations to all our officers and we look forward to a year in which we will be able to meet in person and resume our important work.

July 4th parades have been scheduled and the chance to gather and watch a parade with friends and families is a welcome return to normal. Many of our members will again be marching with the Shriners and bringing smiles to both those on the sidewalks and in the parade. Even as the pandemic runs its course, don't forget to keep yourselves safe. This year has taught us the precious gift of personal contact and the need to keep ourselves safe so we can enjoy each other's company in our asylums again.

In the coming issues of this supplement the names of all officers, committees, and important legislation passed at the Annual Conclave will be printed. I ask each and every member to attend at least one (1) of their home Commandery Conclaves. The work of the Commandery depends upon your participation, and a warm greeting will be extended to every member. Your participation is vital to the continued health and welfare of our venerable institution.

We look forward to also greeting everyone at next years Annual Conclave which returns to Killington Mountain Lodge on the Access Road in Killington, Vermont. The Hotel has undergone extensive renovation and is anxiously awaiting our filling it's rooms again.

Our guests enjoy the Annual Conclave and you can too. Mark your calendars and join the festivities next June at the Killington Mountain Lodge.

Past Grand Commander Sandy Karstens passes the "caboose award" to Sir Knight Douglas Boardman after he concluded his term of office.

Your editor enjoys a cigar and fellowship at an Annual Conclave in Williston with then Right Eminent Grand Commander Douglas K. Boardman.
